Services (DGS)

Anne Bradley joined Agility in 2001. She transitioned to the role of Chief Executive Officer after serving as Senior Vice President and Head of Program Management supporting the United Kingdom Ministry of Defense (MoD). She maintained full responsibility for the Agility DGS contracts, which provide specialized movement support services for the entire U.K. MoD. Both contracts are a part of the MoD's Logistics, Commodities and Services Transformation Program (LCST). It is a fully outsourced supply chain and logistics program providing global expertise and operational effectiveness and delivering improved responsiveness to the UK Armed Forces. Anne relocated to London in 2010 and opened the first Agility DGS office in the UK. She continuously managed the expansion of DGS providing consultation in support of deployed logistics before returning to the US in 2022.

Anne has worked in a number of roles within Agility. She began in logistics operations in Alexandria, VA, focused on household goods and project logistics in Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union, and Africa. She then progressed into business development in the government sector and aid agencies, and then to strategic development of programs involving complex, diversified logistics support. During this time, she operated largely as an independent COO given her European location with DGS HQ in the US and Agility Corp location in the Middle East. She maintained responsibility for all financial, administrative, and operational aspects of the UK Support contracts. Anne is on the DGS Board of Directors and previously served as Chairperson.

Anne is a graduate of the University of Delaware with a bachelor's degree in political science and international relations with a concentration in economics. She is also a graduate of the Agility global leadership development program, the Institute for Defense in Business Executive Logistics and Technology program at Kenan-Flagler Business School UNC Chapel Hill.

Anne is originally from New York and enjoys the outdoors, travel, and spending time with family.
